Welcome

We hope you find this Guide both informative and useful in discovering everything that Carefree, Cave Creek, and the surrounding communities have to offer. Please remember to shop and buy local first, supporting the individuals and businesses dedicated to making Carefree and Cave Creek such a vibrant and captivating community.

What makes this area feel so distinct and secluded while being so close to metropolitan Phoenix? The answer lies in a unique combination of geography, climate, and the diverse mix of people who live, work, and play here with a shared philosophy of life. To the north and east, the Carefree and Cave Creek area is surrounded by the Tonto National Forest – a vast, undeveloped preserve – while to the west, the mountains of Cave Creek Recreational Park frame our stunning landscape. This setting gifts us with incredible sunsets and sunrises, a harmonious coexistence with diverse wildlife, and a plethora of year-round outdoor activities.

Add to this 300 days of sunshine, some of the best golf, tennis, and hiking in the country, and a warm and welcoming community, and it's easy to see why Carefree and Cave Creek are truly unique and inviting destinations for both visitors and residents.

Thank you for taking the time to discover the Carefree and Cave Creek area. We welcome you to experience all we have to offer.

Celebrating 60 Years of Support for the Carefree Cave Creek Region!

ESTABLISHED IN 1965, OUR CHAMBER HAS BEEN TIRELESSLY WORKING TO CREATE OPPORTUNITIES FOR BUSINESSES AND THE LOCAL COMMUNITY TO THRIVE. WITH A PROUD HISTORY AND AN EYE ON THE FUTURE, WE STAND AS THE VOICE OF OVER 350 MEMBER BUSINESSES, COMMITTED TO REPRESENTING THEIR INTERESTS TO THE PUBLIC AND OUR ELECTED OFFICIALS.

When Lester Maitland, Billy Burk, and Leslie Rhuart filed the articles of incorporation on February 17, 1965, the Cave Creek Carefree Chamber of Commerce was officially formed and headquartered in Cave Creek. Their mission was clear: to promote and foster the civic and economic welfare of their members and the two distinct yet complementary communities.

Initially, the Chamber struggled to gain momentum, remaining inactive for about a decade after its incorporation. However, in 1977, a pivotal change occurred under the leadership of Board Chairman Stefan Chipowsky. The organization was renamed the Carefree Chamber of Commerce, and its base was relocated to Carefree. By 1992, the name evolved once more to the Carefree Cave Creek Chamber of Commerce, reflecting a renewed commitment to supporting businesses in both towns equally.

Today, the Chamber's mission is steadfast in assisting the economic growth of our local business community and representing their interests to the public and elected officials. We believe that when local businesses thrive, the entire community prospers. We achieve this by hosting networking events, providing business education and marketing opportunities, and advocating on behalf of our members.

Our dedication extends beyond business. Through our 501(c)(3) Foundation, we raise funds for student scholarships and local community grants, driving economic development and enhancing workforce growth. The Chamber is committed to being the catalyst for growth, the advocate for change, and the bridge that connects businesses and community members. Together, we are two distinct towns but one vibrant destination, stronger in unity.

As we celebrate 60 years of supporting the Desert Foothills Region business owners, we look forward to continuing our mission for the next 60 years and beyond. We are excited to be a part of this thriving community and remain dedicated to its ongoing success.

Here's to the next chapter of growth, prosperity, and community spirit in the Carefree Cave Creek region!

PARKS

Both towns boast a selection of world-class golf courses, both public and private, set amidst some of the most beautiful desert landscapes you'll ever see. Whether you're a seasoned pro or a novice, there's a course tailored to your skill level, ensuring a great day on the links.

Cave Creek's historic Spur Cross Ranch, a former guest ranch from the 1920s, now serves as a conservation area. Its more than 2,154 acres offer access to the Tonto National Forest's scenic trails, suitable for mountain bikers, horseback riders, and hikers. The area also features fascinating archaeological sites and lush riparian zones like The Jewel of the Creek, accessible via short-loop trails. This vibrant area is a must-see for wildflower enthusiasts in the spring.

Desert Awareness Park, located in the heart of Cave Creek, is a native habitat park featuring a nature trail with labeled plants, a natural history center, a children's playground, and shaded picnic areas with grills – an excellent spot for families.

Carefree Desert Gardens, one of only two public botanical gardens in the Valley, is located along Easy Street in downtown Carefree. Spread over four acres, the gardens feature rare and fascinating desert plants on a self-guided walking tour. Don't miss the famous Carefree Sundial, the largest in the U.S. at ninety feet across, which has been a popular attraction since 1959.

OUTDOOR EXPLORATION

The Tonto National Forest showcases some of the most ruggedly beautiful landscapes in the country, with Sonoran Desert cacti and flatlands giving way to the Mogollon Rim highlands.

A short drive east of Carefree brings you to the hilltop Sear-Kay Ruin, where you can explore the masonry remains of a small village built by the Hohokam tribe on a self-guided hike. Nearby, the Tonto Hills development is marked by the world's largest kachina doll, standing an impressive 40 feet tall. Continue up the road to the Seven Springs Recreation Area, a popular destination since the early 1900s, offering extensive hiking trails from the desert floor to higher elevations, where you can enjoy a picnic under large sycamore trees along the creek.

There are countless ways to explore the area's stunning scenery. One of the most thrilling and unforgettable experiences is exploring the desert on an ATV (quad) or UTV (side-by-side). Jeep tours and hot-air ballooning are also popular options.

Horseback rides are available throughout the day, but there's something magical about witnessing one of Arizona's breathtaking sunsets from horseback. MacDonald's Ranch and Windwalker Expeditions offer memorable horseback adventures.

FISHING AND BOATING

Within a half-hour drive of Carefree and Cave Creek are three lakes perfect for swimming, fishing, boating, and water skiing. Bartlett and Horseshoe Lakes, fifteen miles east of Carefree, offer picnic tables with shade, restroom facilities, boat rentals, a marina, and a restaurant. About twenty miles west is Lake Pleasant, a large lake with a visitor center, restaurant, two marinas, and numerous amenities. The Tonto National Forest borders this area to the north and east, providing untouched desert beauty.

FACTS ABOUT BUYING LOCAL

Build Community

The casual encounters you enjoy at neighborhood businesses and their surrounding public spaces foster relationships and community cohesion. These local spots are the ultimate social networking sites!

Strengthen Your Local Economy

Every dollar you spend at independent businesses returns three times more money to your local economy than one spent at a chain, and hundreds of times more than buying from an online mega-retailer. This is a benefit we can all bank on.

Studies show that money stays and recirculates more when spent at locally owned businesses. Additionally, local businesses boost hometown pride, making folks feel more connected to the place they live.

History

The charming towns of Carefree and Cave Creek beckon visitors with their natural beauty and unique personalities. Snug behind towering Black Mountain and fascinating granite formations, the little towns retain the allure that has drawn people to the area for millennia.

Evidence for prehistoric nomadic people in the area dates back many thousands of years, but it was the arrival of the prehistoric Hohokam, a sedentary farming culture, that left the greatest imprint. Their pottery, homes, and tools give us insight into these early residents of the area.

The Hohokam chose to live in the Foothills. The land was agreeable for their crops of corn, beans, and squash. Most importantly, reliable water flowed along the creek and trickled from mountain springs. The Hohokam were true scientists, who explored the bountiful resources the Sonoran Desert offered and experimented with different applications of those resources. The trees, shrubs, and roots were used for Hohokam structures, medicines, glues, tools, soaps, and of course, food. The Hohokam were also engineers, constructing miles-long, hand-dug irrigation canals. The canals were so well designed that, hundreds of years after abandonment, when historic settlers arrived, the canals were restored for use.

The Hohokam's archaeological record ends around 1450 CE. For hundreds of years after, no evidence indicates who lived in the area. Undoubtedly, people passed through, hunted, and foraged, but if so, they left no record. It was not until after the Civil War that the next round of settlers arrived, to farm, to ranch and to test the nearby mountains for gold.

Despite nearby water, farming was difficult. However, a handful of residents had success with vegetable gardens. They even grew roses. Ranching fared better, with both cattle and sheep grazing the land. Along the creek, west of present-day Cave Creek Road, a small remote settlement developed, with a sheep shearing station, a store, a school, and a post office. Several days of travel were required to get into Phoenix, so workers, ranchers, and miners gathered by the creek, at Cave Creek Station, to find social contact, a game of cards, and perhaps a brew to wet their whistle!

Mine diggings, small and large, scarred the nearby mountains. The bigger mining enterprises brought in huge ore-crushing machines known as stamp mills to efficiently process tons of rock in search of precious metals. The giant machines thundered as heavy shafts pummeled rocks to bits, a sound so loud that they said one could hear the rumble in Phoenix. One such machine from the 1890s was relocated from its original site on Continental Mountain to the Cave Creek Museum where dedicated volunteers laboriously restored the ancient relic to a fully functioning stamp mill. As with miners of old, the museum has hoped some gold will be found during the runs of the mill.

Cave Creek remained small and remote, but its citizens, like the Hohokam before them, chose to live near the creek. The residents promoted their town's well-being, forming the Cave Creek Improvement Association, which brought pavement to the little community and other advances to Cave Creek Road. In 1955, the Mother's Club was formed to organize school and civic activities, including the area's newspaper, the Vacuum Cleaner, where townfolks could read "all the dirt."

One item from a 1959 issue announced, "the arrival of the largest sundial in the western hemisphere."

Now celebrating its 65th anniversary, the sundial was the harbinger of growth and change.

For many years, it had been the dream of K.T. Palmer, Tom Darlington, and Les Rhuart to create a planned community far beyond the population centers of Scottsdale and Phoenix. They chose a whimsical name for their future town: Carefree. The dreamers concocted equally fanciful names for their streets. One may meet at the corner of Ho and Hum Roads, be undecided on Nonchalant Avenue, or put one's feet up on Leisure Lane. To enhance interest in the new town, an airport was built for ease of arrival of residents; a golf course built for their amusement; and, in the town center, amid shops and restaurants, the sundial was installed "Where the sun marks time," and where visitors can rest in its shadow or explore the peace of adjacent desert gardens. This year, Carefree marks 40 years as an incorporated town.

Both towns have grown over the decades, offering much to enjoy, from the solace of a hike at Spur Cross Conservation Area to a boisterous time during Cave Creek Rodeo Days. Restaurants abound and unique shops dot both towns, promising entertaining and enlightening explorations of the beautiful desert foothills.

To learn more about the area's history, visit the Cave Creek Museum.

Art | Culture | Entertainment

Nestled in the stunning natural beauty of the Carefree Cave Creek area, artists, musicians, and writers find endless inspiration. These two vibrant towns are dedicated to celebrating the arts, boasting a lively array of festivals, public art installations, and galleries that rival—and some say even surpass—those in Scottsdale and Sedona. The quality and diversity of the art on display, coupled with the impressive regional and national reputations of the artists, make this area a true cultural gem.

Every November, over forty art studios open their doors for the nationally recognized Hidden in the Hills Studio Tour, sponsored by the Sonoran Arts League. This event offers a unique opportunity to meet the artists and explore their creative spaces.

Carefree comes alive in the fall, winter, and spring with the Thunderbird Artists Fine Art and Wine Festivals, attracting more than 30,000 art lovers. The festivals feature an array of artistic works, from life-sized bronze sculptures to pottery, photography, paintings, and jewelry.

For over 40 years, the Desert Foothills Theater has been a cornerstone of high-quality theater in the Northeast Valley. Drawing thousands of attendees each year, the theater's performances have earned numerous ariZoni award nominations, showcasing the depth of talent in the area.

Music enthusiasts are treated to the Arizona Musicfest, which fills the community with the sounds of world-renowned classical, jazz, and Broadway musicians during February and March.

Photos courtesy of (1) Cave Creek Rodeo, (2) live entertainment, (3) Cave Creek Rodeo and (4) Foothills Food Bank & Resource Center's Empty Bowls.

Cave Creek's entertainment district is a hotspot for live music, offering performances several nights a week, and sometimes daily. From original country tunes to pop cover bands and jazz, the variety is endless. Solo guitarists often perform at various venues, with local bands and national acts gracing the stages year-round. Cave Creek stands out as one of the valley's best places to catch a live show almost any day of the week.

Beyond music, the area offers a plethora of live entertainment and events. Year-round live bull riding and rodeo events bring traditional Western competitions to life. Local saloons host Western dance lessons, while sports enthusiasts can enjoy televised games and the camaraderie of loyal fans at many bars and restaurants.

With such a rich tapestry of cultural offerings, it's no wonder Carefree and Cave Creek are premier destinations for both residents and visitors to experience the best in arts, culture, and entertainment.

COMMUNITY SERVICE OPPORTUNITIES

The Carefree Cave Creek Chamber of Commerce warmly invites dedicated Chamber members to join our team of Chamber Ambassadors. Our Chamber is active in a variety of unique events throughout the year, and we seek enthusiastic individuals who wish to volunteer and contribute to the many events that enrich our community. If you have a passion for our community and enjoy meeting new people, we would love to have you on board!

Foothills Caring Corps is another vital program in our area, offering essential services to homebound seniors and adults with disabilities. Volunteers help maintain their independence by delivering meals and providing transportation to medical appointments, grocery stores, and cultural events.

The Foothills Food Bank & Resource Center is a vital support system for the Desert Foothills region. Volunteers play a central role in powering our mission. Whether transporting donations from local grocery stores, sorting and packing food, or serving as ambassadors, the gift of time allows us to improve and expand our services. Our reliance on volunteers enables us to extend our reach to those in need, ensuring that we can continue to provide essential resources to our community.

Join us in making a meaningful difference in our community through these rewarding volunteer opportunities!

CULTURAL PROGRAMS

The Holland Center proudly facilitates numerous community projects that enrich the quality of life in our neighborhoods and offer diverse service opportunities for volunteers. Among these are the Desert Foothills Theater, Cave Creek Christmas Pageant, Foothills Film Society, and a variety of other engaging events.

Our cherished Desert Foothills Library and Cave Creek Museum thrive thanks to the dedication of volunteers who assist visitors, update exhibits, staff the circulation desk, shelve books, and ensure these vital community resources remain accessible to all.

For those passionate about the arts, the Sonoran Arts League offers a chance to contribute to the annual Hidden in the Hills Art Tour and various other art exhibitions. Similarly, the Arizona Musicfest organization invites volunteers to help plan and support the Annual Festival of Music, special signature events, and music programs for youth.

We warmly welcome your involvement in these cultural programs, where your efforts will make a significant impact on our community's cultural vitality and cohesion.

CONNECTING WITH NATURE, WILDLIFE AND ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION

Join the Southwest Wildlife Rehabilitation, Spur Cross Ranch Conservation Area, Desert Awareness Committee, and Desert Foothills Land Trust in their mission to preserve our precious wildlife and environment. These organizations offer volunteers a unique opportunity to connect with like-minded individuals who are passionate about conservation.

Additionally, Foothills Animal Rescue, Tierra Madre Horse Sanctuary, and Wild at Heart welcome volunteers to engage with a variety of animals, including birds of prey, horses, dogs, cats, and more.

For a comprehensive list of community organizations and contact information, please visit the Community Calendar on the Chamber website at www.carefreecavecreek.org/events.

Education

This community is known for its academic excellence through public, private and charter schools. There are many choices for your family.

Cave Creek’s Unified School District’s first school dates to the late 1800s and was located on School House Road. The little, white-painted schoolhouse served students for many years until it was expanded into a new four-room school in the 1950s. The newly expanded school included a corral for the students’ horses and a room designated as the Cave Creek Library. Today’s schools look quite different from the old schoolhouses but still strive to provide the quality education and neighborhood school atmosphere that has served our community for more than 100 years.

The Cave Creek Unified School District is composed of five elementary schools, one middle school, one high school, a Fine Arts Center, and District Offices. The serene, rural atmosphere provides high-quality educational experiences to all students with personalized attention designed to develop the potential of each student academically, physically, socially, and emotionally. The Arizona Department of Education has ranked CCUSD schools as “A” schools, the highest achievement grade possible. Not only do students enjoy outstanding academic experiences, but they also can participate in award-winning sports, fine arts, and extracurricular programs unique to our area.

The tradition of community academic excellence is also maintained by our local charter and private schools. These schools provide another choice for quality education that produces the rich tapestry of educational options available in our area. Special programs, smaller class sizes, and innovative curricula enhance children’s emotional, social, intellectual, and physical development and provide the foundation for a lifelong love of learning. Smaller campuses allow students to thrive academically while enjoying a safe learning environment.

Paradise Valley Community College at Black Mountain, a part of the Maricopa Community College system, is located just off Carefree Highway and 60th Street. PVCC offers a broad range of courses that transfer to major universities. PVCC also offers 4-year degree programs as well. Some of the 100 credit and transferable classes offered at this campus include art, astronomy, math, science labs, fire science, and more.

First and foremost, I would like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to all the community members and chamber members who have contributed to the success of our local businesses and the growth of our community. Your dedication and unwavering support have been instrumental in fostering an environment of innovation, collaboration, and economic prosperity.

Over the past year, we have witnessed tremendous growth and progress within our community and chamber. Our local businesses have demonstrated incredible resilience in the face of challenges, adapting to new realities and finding innovative ways to serve our residents and visitors. We take immense pride in our diverse range of establishments, from boutique shops and art galleries to restaurants and service providers, which collectively contribute to the unique charm of Carefree and Cave Creek.

Moreover, the Chamber has leveraged its marketing power to increase the visibility and reach of our local businesses. Through targeted marketing campaigns, social media outreach, and strategic partnerships, we have successfully showcased the unique offerings of our community to a wider audience. I am filled with optimism and enthusiasm as we embark on this journey together. I look forward to the exciting times ahead.

Sincerely,

The Carefree Cave Creek Foundation

The Carefree Cave Creek Foundation 501(c)(3) was established in 2020 and is dedicated to advancing the quality of life in the Desert Foothills Region through education, leadership, workforce development, community grants, and scholarships.

It is funded through donations, raffles, grants, and annual fundraising events.

The non-profit Chamber Foundation serves as a pivotal bridge between high school students seeking higher education opportunities and local community programs in need of financial support. Through its dedicated efforts, the foundation operates multifaceted programs aimed at facilitating access to scholarships for deserving high school students. Carefree Turns 40!

Thomas D. Darlington (1904–1969) was originally from Centreville, Idaho. After graduating from Stanford University, he worked as a publicity agent in Delaware, then became General Manager for Hillspaugh Ltd. in Sheffield, England. He became the plant manager for Garrett Corporation's Air Research in Phoenix during World War II and decided to stay in Arizona after the war.

Kenyon Turner (K.T.) Palmer (1899–1976) was born in Columbus, Mississippi and came to Arizona in 1920 from Illinois, expecting to die of tuberculosis within four or five years. After graduating with a law degree from the University of Arizona, in 1934, he homesteaded a 640-acre ranch on the western slope of Pinnacle Peak. Palmer owned and operated the largest second-hand merchandise and gun store in Arizona, became a respected lawyer, ran for U.S. Senator on the Republican ticket and traveled the world.

In 1946, Tom and K.T. met at a Kiwanis luncheon in the Adams Hotel in Phoenix, where the seminal idea of Carefree was born. Years later, both men found themselves working in a Scottsdale real estate office and their previously monumental dream was rekindled. Despite their differences, they both lived by the ideals of thrift, industry, honesty and loyalty. They carried out many expensive joint ventures on a simple handshake.

In 1955, a 400-acre goat farm north of Scottsdale was found with an abundant well, and 2,200 surrounding acres were secured. K.T. named their joint business venture the Carefree Development Corp., and the name "Carefree" was regularly used to describe their vision of the Town they proposed. In 1958, the Darlington-Palmer building was finished in the downtown area (that building is now Town Hall) and in 1959, the iconic Sundial was completed.

The Chamber is welcoming to everyone in the community."

| Joanna Igao

"The Cave Creek Carefree Chamber has had a tremendous impact on my business, it's been a positive experience for me and my business. The opportunities and experience to network with other people in the community, while building a lot of strong business partnerships. This has provided me with the feeling of strong ties to the community. As a small business owner, we are typically on a little island, sometimes in our minds. But when you become part of the Chamber, you become part of a larger community and part of something amazing. I believe being a member of the Chamber is an asset to all our small businesses. I feel like it's such an asset to be around other like-minded people. I strongly recommend joining the Chamber and I look forward to meeting you."

| John Crane
Mayor of Carefree

"The Carefree Cave Creek Chamber of Commerce is wonderfully unique to other chambers I've been a part of. It really is a small-town community, and the business owners always show up, so we're stronger together and community is really what we're all about at this Chamber. I love being part of it. I'm also on the board of directors, so we invite you to come on in because it is a little different."

| Leanne Gardner
